PRESIDENT HAS DETERMINED TO PROTECT SHIPS

Will Go Before Congress to Ask Full Authority to Guard Americans

AMERICAN SHIPS WILL EVENTUALLY BE ARMED

Request to Congress May Be Given Latter Part of This Week

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)
Washington, Feb. 21.—President Wilson has practically decided to appear before congress, prior to adjournment March 4, to ask for additional authority to protect American seamen and ships against the German submarine menace.

While officials said today, there was a bare chance that he will not carry out his plan, there was every indication that he would make his address either late this week or early next week.

The President's position as outlined authoritatively today, is that congress, before adjourning, should pass a broad resolution, giving him additional authority. He has definitely decided what he will say to congress, but that has not been made public. Officials generally expect that, sooner or later, arms will be furnished to American ships.

In spite of the statement of the British government, that a very small percentage of vessels going to and from the war zone were being sunk by German submarines, officials pointed out today that most American vessels in the trans-Atlantic trade were still held up.

It was emphasized that when the President appears before congress he will not do so with the purpose of asking for a declaration of war. While it is realized that the pacifist element in congress has some strength, the President is known to believe that the situation is such that, when action is needed, there will be little division.

The President has decided not to call an extra session of congress unless there should be an unusual emergency, and it was generally accepted today that he will not call the senate in special session after March 4. While general reticence on the Austrian situation was observed today, it is understood that the administration believes the negotiations so far have been unsatisfactory.

Ultimately a break is expected unless Austria changes its position.

PRODUCERS WILL SHOW SOLONS FILM AT $2 PER SOLON

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)
Columbus, Feb. 21.—In all committee meetings of both houses of the legislature speed up programs were adopted today, looking to a recess of the assembly on March 8 and final adjournment March 20. The house yesterday adopted a resolution providing for sine die adjournment on that date.

Committees are to be cleared of all important bills next week, it is said. Very few important measures remain to be acted upon, including appropriation measures, taxation, and highway bills. The taxation measure offered last night, has been made a special order of business in the senate for next Tuesday.

In view of pending legislation which would prohibit the showing of such pictures, the house yesterday adopted a resolution requesting producers to exhibit the "Birth of a Nation" film to members of the legislature. A representative of the company announced today that this would be impossible, but that members of the legislature would be invited to see the film in Columbus at $2.00 each.

Members of the legislature were considering holding a night session tonight, the first since the assembly convened. Tomorrow state officials and legislators are invited to take part in Washington's birthday exercises at Ohio State university. The law makers expected to adjourn tonight or tomorrow morning for the week.

DEFEAT AMENDMENT REMOVING TEETH FROM REED'S BONE DRY BILL

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)
Washington, Feb. 21.—Supporters of the Reed "bone dry" amendment to the Postal bill won the first round of the wet and dry fight in the house today when a proposed amendment by Representative Saunders of Virginia, which would have nullified the Reed proposal, was defeated 206 to 81.

The Saunders amendment would have made the Reed amendment apply only in states that now are "bone dry." In effect, then, this would not change the present situation in any state.

BRITISH ADMIT SUBMERSIBLES STILL A MENACE

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)
London, Feb. 21.—In a speech in the house of commons today Sir Edward Carson, first lord of the admiralty, said the submarine menace recently had grown until its extent had become grave and serious. But measures which had been adopted, he said, would mitigate it by degrees. Sir Edward informed the house that an anti-submarine department had been established in the admiralty composed of the most experienced and capable men in the navy. The number of armed merchant ships had been increased 47.5 per cent. in the last two months.

In the first 18 days of February, the first lord of the admiralty announced 89 allied and neutral steamers of more than 1,000 tons had been lost, their total tonnage aggregating 268,000. This was compared with losses of 669 vessels of 201,000 tons in the first 18 days of December and of 65 vessels of 182,000 tons the first 18 days of January.

While not giving the number of submarines destroyed, Sir Edward said he had a record of 40 encounters with them during the last 18 days.

IRON BAR HELD ENGINEER WHILE STEAM ESCAPED

Death Came Quickly to William Floyd In Cab of His Engine

SPREADING RAILS UNDER COACH DERAILED TRAIN

Farmer and His Son Saw
Train Go Into Ditch at Quaker City

B. & O. Engineer William Floyd, was scalded to death in his cab, an iron bar lying over his left hand, when he was found, indicating that he was held helpless while steam and hot water from broken pipes leading from the boiler, practically cooked him from his head to below his knees. His suffering, however, probably was of only a few seconds duration.

A farmer and his son, waiting at the road crossing to allow train No. 33 to pass, were eyewitnesses to its wrecking, near Quaker City, yesterday, about 11:30 o'clock. They say that the baggage car left the track first, pulling the tender after and that when the engine finally rolled over on its side, it had almost stopped. Old railroad men are unanimous in saying that when a locomotive leaves the track at high speed it invariably will "turn turtle" and head in the opposite direction. Floyd's engine was lying with the cab down the bank and the pilot pointing to and near the rails, headed in the same direction that the engine had been traveling.

This fact would bear out the witnesses' testimony. It is likely that the baggage car pulled the tender off the track, and as this is rigidly coupled, the engine also was jerked off the rails and its speed considerably retarded. A spreading or broken rail is assigned unofficially as the cause.

The fact that all the cars were derailed, and that scores of the 100 or more passengers were not killed, is due to the fact that the cars were all of steel construction, and did not telescope or collapse when jammed together by the sudden impact. Only two passengers were slightly injured, Mrs. Maudie Mike, a Syrian woman, of New York, en route to Breville, and D. S. Stout of Smithfield, W. Va., on his way to New Concord. At the point where the wreck occurred on the main track, there is a "passing track" or siding, and only (Continued on Page 2, Col. 1.)

U-BOAT SHELLS SHIP AS CREW IS LEAVING

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)
Washington, Feb. 21.—Sinking, by gun fire, from a German submarine, of the Norwegian liner Jammund, together with the sudden board was attacked by the state department's list of Germany's illegal acts which are slowly accumulating and testing the patience of the government. Consul Frost reported from Queens- town that, after the ship was sunk, last Saturday, the men were rescued, but their lives were endangered by shell fire, before the crew had gotten away in boats, and by drifting about at sea for nearly 18 hours.

After the cabinet meeting late yesterday there was no indication that President Wilson had made known what his next step would be or when it would be taken. At the state department it was stated the situation remained as serious as it could be without war. Real interest was displayed in the British embassy's announcement that, between Feb. 1 and 14, less than one per cent. of the vessels entering or leaving British ports had been sunk. The state department is seeking to informally with Germany the question of safe passage for the American naval vessels Des Moines and Caesar, no wharf at Alexandria, but bound for Beirut, to discharge relief supplies for Armenians and Syrians, and to take on about 1,000 American refugees.

LUDENDORFF, GERMANY'S REAL BOSS

Gen. von Ludendorff.

According to recent reports from Germany, General von Ludendorff, first quartermaster general and General von Hindenburg's chief of staff is the real "boss" of the empire. All the threads not only of military control but also of civil administration, food distribution, industry, agriculture, and even foreign relations, all of which are subordinate to military requirements, now run to the country seat of the Prince of Pless, where Ludendorff sits with Hindenburg at imperial headquarters. Nothing is done unless "Ludendorff is for it."

BRITISH SUPPLIES DEPLETED TO POINT OF DANGER IS CLAIM

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)
Berlin, Feb. 19. (By Wireless to Sayville, P.Feb. 21.)—The address of Dr. Karl Helfferich, the imperial vice-chancellor and secretary of the imperial treasury, before the German agricultural council's convention in Berlin, is reported in considerable detail today, by the Overseas News Agency. Dr. Helfferich, says the report, in alluding to the German submarine warfare, declared:

"We are sure of success and shall allow nothing and nobody to wrest this success from us. Already the navigation which links the British Isles with the rest of the world has been depressed to the danger point. The tonnage arriving in British ports in December last, was only 2,200,000 net, while the monthly average of the last peace year was 4,200,000 tons. Already England's reserve stocks of the most important things necessary for her life and military operations are depleted to such a point that she more than ever before is dependent upon plentifully assured importations.

"If all do their full duty—and every German does his duty—then the year 1917," concluded Dr. Helfferich, "will bring the turning point of the age; then the year 1917 will crush our British enemy on the seas and open for the German nations the doors leading to a free, great future."

GERMANY SHOULD DENY THE CHARGES AGAINST GERARD

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)
London, Feb. 21.—The correspondent of the Exchange Telegraph Company at The Hague quotes the Frankfurter Zeitung as demanding that the German government make a prompt statement regarding the charges against James W. Gerard the former American ambassador, of using his official position to obtain information useful to the entente, particularly in the specific case of the late Sir Roger Casement.

These charges ought to promptly be denied or affirmed," says the newspaper. "They lie heavily upon Mr. Gerard but even more on the government officials for permitting the leakage."

In the Berlin Tages Zeitung on February 19 Count Von Reventlow made the charge against Mr. Gerard of using his official position to transmit information to the entente, alluding specifically to the Casement episode.

MAYOR WILL ASK FOR MILLION TO FEED CHILDREN

Hears Plea of Mothers Who

CITY MAY BUY FOOD TO DISTRIBUTE AMONG POOR

Unless Country is Prepared
Many Pleas Will Be Heard

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)
New York, Feb. 21.—After Mayor Mitchell had been informed by East Side housewives today that their children were "starving to death by hundreds" because of the high cost of food, he promised to place before the board of estimates on Friday their plea that $1,000,000 be appropriated by the city to buy food for distribution at reasonable prices.

Policemen guarding the city hall prevented today another demonstration by East Side women intent upon personally calling to Mayor Mitchell's attention the increased cost of food.

About 200 of the women approached the building to find patrolmen blocking their progress at every entrance. Reserves went among them, informing them that if they dispersed quietly the mayor later would talk with a committee. The women, scattered, some of them weeping.

Earlier in the day groups of women attempted to gather in an East Side public square but the police forced them to move on. They assembled later, however, near the city hall, led by Marie Ganz, a member of the Industrial Workers of the World.

Mayor Mitchell before seeing the committee said he was not certain just what the city administration could do to relieve the food situation, but would be glad to have the women present any plan. "For one committee which comes, now asking for food there will be one hundred committees if this country is not prepared," he said.

The mayor declared he favored the establishment of state markets but that this plan had been blocked by legislation. An appeal was sent to President Wilson and a committee was appointed to demand that the city appropriate $1,000,000 to be used immediately for buying and distributing one truck obstructed this track, which was quickly lifted out of the way by one of the wreck trains' derails. FREIGHT EMBARGO NEEDED TO PREVENT ANARCHY AND RIOT

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)
Chicago, Feb. 21.—President J. P. Griffin of the Chicago board of trade today telegraphed to the interstate commerce commission and to the presidents of eastern railroads insisting that unless an immediate embargo were placed on all products eastbound out of Chicago except fuel and foodstuffs, the country will face the danger of anarchy and rioting.

A meeting of directors of the board of trade, lawyers and traffic experts was held this afternoon to ascertain if legal means can be found to force the railroads and the interstate commerce commission to clear up the situation, particularly as it affects Chicago.

"The commission and the railroads have failed in the crisis," said Mr. Griffin. "We are trying to ascertain if the courts offer a solution."

DOZEN SHIPS ADDED TO LIST BY REPORTS FROM PARIS AND BERLIN

New York, Feb. 21.—Dispatches from various sources today added a dozen ships to the list of those sunk as the result of the recent Teutonic submarine operations. Most of these were sent to the bottom several days ago.

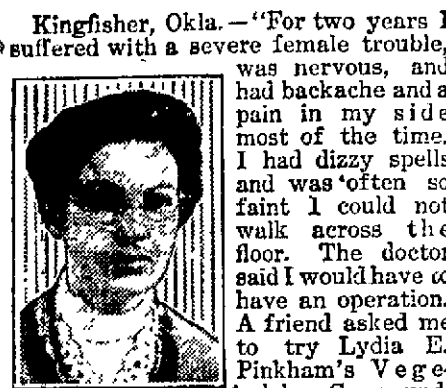

The longest list came from a German source and claimed the sinking of six vessels in the Mediterranean within the last few days. The names of three of these, not previously mentioned in shipping reports were given, their tonnage aggregating $,000. In addition the sinking was claimed of a total of 7,500 tons and of a crowded Italian transport, tonnage not stated.

Paris officially reports the sinking of five vessels in the period from February 16 to February 20. None is positively identifiable but the indicated aggregate of the five is not less than 13,000 tons.

In addition, from the Lloyds Agency, the sinking of a British steamer of 1,828 tons is announced. The tonnage of the vessels named in the reports thus will probably aggregate nearly 23,000 tons. War operations on the various fronts were of minor importance, so far as the official reports received indicate.

BLUES BANISHED BY NERV-WORTH

James Karnes No Longer in the Dumps—He Tells Why.

This new neighborhood statement will bear closest reading: "I had my work to do at night and often worked 12 hours and I kept this up for over a year until I began to fail in health and my work seemed to be a hardship. I could not sleep nor eat and when it came time for my turn, I was weak and debilitated and had to quit work on account of my weakened condition. What I ate did not digest. Headache, stomach trouble, pain in stomach, lots of gas on my stomach. I would be blue and discouraged and much worried over my work. I have taken Nerv-Worth; possibly half a bottle. My general health is as follows. Sleep fine, eight hours. Eat anything I want. Digest my food. Bowels regular. Headache all gone. I am lots stronger and more able to perform my duties. Work seems easy. Blues all gone. I am a cheerful man. I certainly recommend Nerv-Worth to anybody as above mentioned." JAMES KARNES, "1548 Parsons Ave., Columbus, O." "Your dollar back at the T. J. BOYS MAY JOIN NEW CORN CLUB JUST ORGANIZED

Boys' Corn clubs are to be organized this year for the first time by the Ohio State University College of Agriculture. Club work as now offered by the institution includes corn growing, potato growing, pig raising, poultry raising, keeping of dairy cow records, gardening and canning, stock judging and some making.

Who May Join. The new corn club work will be open for membership to every boy in the state between the ages of 10 and 18. Boys of these ages have long ago demonstrated their ability to grow large yields successfully, and the organization for this work is felt to be no experiment. It is the aim to offer to the members of the club's the benefit of the best knowledge that the Ohio State University College of Agriculture has on corn culture. Instruction pamphlets written especially for the boys have been prepared under the direction of specialists. These will be issued regularly to all members. Personal visits by representatives of the Agricultural College Extension Service will be made to club meetings. In addition, the club work will be under the personal supervision of county and district superintendents of schools, as well as local club leaders.

Not a Mere Contest. Thus, the object of the club will not be merely a contest between boys to raise more corn, but to arouse their interest in a letter corn crop. With the help of the College of Agriculture and the school officers, an attempt will be made to promote a hearty co-operation between the boys in solving community problems. Picnics and other social gatherings will be arranged for the boys from time to time where possible. Where other boys' and girls' clubs of the university are formed in the same community, more general social affairs will be planned.

Included in the list of rules are the following provisions: Each member is to grow at least 1 acre of corn. Each member is to do all the work connected with the preparation of the ground for planting, as well as with the planting and cultivation of the corn, except that which may be deemed beyond his strength.

Each member must keep an accurate record of all labor, cost of seed, fertilizer and other expenses incurred in growing and harvesting the acre of corn. Current prices, as stated in the rules, will be charged for seed, rent, labor and other items of cost.

May Exhibit Samples. Each member will have an opportunity to exhibit samples of corn at a local or county show held at the close of the season. Each member must write a story on "How I Grew My Acre of Corn." In awarding the prizes, the following basis of awards will be used. Yield, 30 points; profit, 30; exhibit, 20; records and story, 20.

A representative of the Ohio State University will be in charge of the county exhibit. He will supervise the judging of the corn and the awarding of the prizes.

In order to take advantage of the greatest amount of the instruction, club members are invited to enroll at once. Information on seed corn testing, the preparation of the soil and many other problems connected with the earlier work of the season will be taken up at once. No charge will be attached to enrollment, pamphlets, visits of specialists, or to answers of questions in connection with special correspondence.

For a detailed copy of the rules and enrollment blank, write to W. H. Fairmer, State Leader of Boys' and Girls' Clubs, Ohio State University, Columbus, Ohio.

Polishing Coral. Although Venice is a center for tourist trade in coral and shell cameos, coral itself is neither gathered nor worked there. The manufacture is confined to Torre del Greco. Polishing coral in quantities is an interesting feature of the work. It is placed in a small bag of stry, raw linen together with crushed pumice stone, and the bag is shaken in a special tube with a hole for drainage under a small column of water. When the coral is well pumiced it is washed and passed into a clean bag. Instead of the pumice the so called "pulimento" (red or white) is used, and the former operation is repeated, first without water, then with a little and finally with much water, when the coral has become brilliant. What the "pulimento" is the inhabitants of Torre del Greco, who so proud and jealous of their industry, have never taken the trouble to find out, as, indeed, what the "acqua ossigenata" (hydrogen peroxide) is, which is used to change the color of the coral, black when extracted from the sea, to red. As for the "pulimento," it is not different from that which the jewelers use to polish precious stones.—Exchange.

Guarding the Bank of England. The Bank of England is quite the best guarded institution in the world. No burglar or bank thief has ever succeeded in making it part with a penny. The great outer doors are so finely balanced that a clerk can, by pressing a knob under his desk, instantly shut them in the face of any one making a dash for the street. They cannot be opened except by special machinery. In recesses near the doors are hidden four guardians, who, without being seen themselves, watch all visitors through mirrors. Special and costly precautions are taken to guard the bullion department, where the gold is stored. It has been stated that the whole department is submerged every night in several feet of water by machinery. The same machinery would be also set in action automatically if at any time during the day the place were tampered with.—London Globe.

Looked Like a Mistake. One of the big eastern structural companies, having a contract to build a traveling crane above a coal handling plant at a dock, decided to employ a surgeon to remain "on the job." The honored one was given a note which read, "Please hand this to the foreman in charge and tell him that you will look after any of the men who may be injured by falling from the work." The doctor without ado went out to the plant. He looked up at the false work that was being built in preparation for the crane, and it was so high that the men on it looked like lilliputians. He thought of the possibilities if one of them should fall to the dock, and he said to the foreman: "I think the company made a mistake. It should have addressed this letter to an undertaker."—Argonaut.

Stage Art and Motion Pictures. As a form of entertainment, not instruction, the motion picture will probably develop along the lines of free, even fantastic, romance, of melodrama and of simple narrative. The stage, free from the burden of supplying these forms of entertainment, will probably concentrate more on the mission of the spoken word, which is to convey ideas and illuminate character, on the creation of the complete illusion of reality and on the pictorial art of scene painting. The movies and the spoken drama are not so antagonistic as we at first pessimistically supposed. Time, we think, will prove to us that in reality they are two different forms of art, as different as painting and sculpture.—American Year Book.

The Bull of Phalaris. Perillus of Athens is said by the ancient authorities to have invented for Phalaris, tyrant of Agrigento, B. C. 570, a brazen bull which opened on the side to admit victims who were to be roasted to death by the fire which was built underneath. The dying groans of the sufferers closely resembled the "roaring of a maddened bull," hence the name that was given to the invention. It is refreshing to know that later on the populace rose against Phalaris and burned the tyrant in the bull that he had made to be the cause of death to so many others.

A Better Trade. "I understand young Bredless is about to marry the daughter of old Bonds, the millionaire?" "Yes, so I am told." "Will he give up the law business?" "Yes. He will give up the law business and go into the son-in-law business."

Its Backbone is a Spring. The snapping bug has a spring in his back like a knife. When not in use as a spring it serves him as a backbone, so you see he is a believer in scientific efficiency and makes one part of his machinery do the work of two. His spring backbone, or backbone spring, if you prefer, gives him power to jump, which in turn gives him his name. Nature probably gave him the spring to help him get on his feet when he's on his back. You've noticed how helpless some insects are when you lay them on their backs. Not this one, however. He slips his backbone out of its groove and then slips it back again suddenly. The spring pops him up in the air; he turns a somersault and drops right side up. Spring backbones are common in several other beetles, remarks the Philadelphia North American. The beetle of the pestiferous wireworm, which destroys the farmer's crops, has a spring in his back. Other members of the family make their homes in trees or decayed wood.

A Curiosity of Sound. If when riding in a balloon at a height, say, of 2000 feet a charge of gunpowder be fired electrically 100 feet below the car, the report, though really as loud as a cannon, sounds no more than a pistol shot, possibly partly owing to the greater rarity of the air, but chiefly because the sound, having no background to reflect it, simply spends itself in the air. Then, always and under all conditions of atmosphere, there ensues absolute silence until the time for the echo back from earth has fully elapsed, when a deafening outburst of thunder rises from below, rolling on often for more than half a minute.

The gambling instinct prompts many a man to take a chance that doesn't belong to him.

And Here Is a Group of Great Artistic Triumphs

Lazaro sings Faust's wonderful serenade, "Salve! dimora a casta e pura" with a supreme artistry never yet approached. Ardent devotion throbs in his great voice and reaches a climax so powerful, yet so sweet, that it compels a tribute of awed admiration. Kathleen Parlow plays Beethoven's "Minuet in G, No. 2" and the "Valse Bluetto" with a touch that brings out exquisite beauties of violin tone with each sweep of her bow across the strings.

Entertainment of Wide Variety

Besides, Oscar Seagle sings a negro "spiritual" and an old-time gospel hymn, Morgan Kingston renders two concert triumphs, Campanari records the greatest arias of his brilliant operatic career, and Harrod and Macari sing the "Pearl Fishers" duet from the sensation of the Metropolitan season. A great operatic chorus, orchestral gems, old-time fiddling and plantation songs, Scotch, Hawaiian and other novelties complete a list that can truly be called a "list of hits" from the start to the finish! UNCLE SAM'S RESERVES READY TO FIGHT FOR NATION'S RIGHTS

Representative Augustus P. Gardner and reserve army of United States.

It is not generally known that Uncle Sam has a reserve army. As far as it goes, it is as good as any reserve army in the world, and is in readiness to fight for the nation's rights and honor. But it doesn't go very far. While the reserve armies of some of the other big nations count into the millions, Uncle Sam's reserves could easily be seated around one table at the same time and not feel crowded.

 Newark, Ohio, under the Act of March 3, 1879.

ESTABLISHED IN 1820.

National Song Week has been observed by telephoning to the music store to get the latest bit of rag time.

As the result of the leak investigation, the speculative activities of the office boys will no doubt be severely condemned.

The price of vegetables is away out of sight, but the farmer keeps on looking discouraged until he gets down out of sight behind the barn.

With those suffragist pickets surrounding the White House, it was clearly a mistake not to provide the executive mansion with a secret underground exit.

NEWSPAPER POSTAGE.

An effort has been made at this session, but was beaten by a close vote, to put through Congress a proposition increasing the postage on newspapers. Probably some wise legislators think the publisher is so rolling in luxury at the present cost of paper that he will view calmly a proposition to soak him at the post-office.

There is no more reason for increasing newspaper postage 50 to 100 per cent, than there is for raising letter postage to three or four cents. If anyone should pay increased cost, it is the magazine publisher, who sends enormous bundles of his literature all over the country at exceedingly low rates.

Most newspapers that go by mail do not travel a long distance. There are few handlings of them, and they take up car space only for a short time. The service is inexpensive to the government, and should not cost the publisher heavy. The publisher would be willing to pay increased costs when all other classes of postage users pay higher rates, and not before.

NATIONAL SONGS.

National Song Week has just been observed in the schools of Illinois. It would be interesting to know just what songs the children sang, and whether they really put some heart into them.

There is a lack of a good singable national song characteristic of the American temperament. The Star Spangled Banner is difficult, as its notes run both high and low with wide intervals. The average person drops out when the verse reaches the more squeaky points. People would sing it more cheerfully if it had better rhythm. America is merely borrowed from John Bull. One very good air is commonly called "Keller's American Hymn" but it is not well known. It is vigorous and expressive, but too much the choral style for our restless and enthusiastic temperament.

The song best fitting our national temperament from the musical viewpoint, is "Dirge" which will stir enthusiasm even in a Northern audience. It has a rhythmic swing that makes one want to sing or dance.

A song will need something of that tingling contagious enthusiasm before an American crowd will sing it with any "pep." Rag time is really the expression of American feeling. The musicians see that there is value in even this despised type of musical notation. Their scientific name for it is syncopation, and the great modern composers make large use of it. It is up to some song writer with a genius for expressing the temperament of a people, to produce a patriotic song having a touch of rag time tinge about it, yet dignified with strong, virile harmony, and with a melody having some animation and impetu-

Spirit of the Press

Training Needed Now.
 If Congress, through the opposition of a few pacifists, refuses to give the country a law providing for universal military training, and there should come a war, every one will have occasion to regret the failure, because within a short time after the beginning of the war, a draft would be ordered, and that is obnoxious to all self-respecting citizens. But that is what would surely follow in case of a great war with any foreign power unless the machinery has been set in motion to prepare young men for service by means of practical military training.—Milwaukee Sentinel.

Education That Will Count.
 Two things are becoming important in this country: more farmers and better methods, and an improved system of distribution of farm products. The young people would not desire to leave the farms so ardently if they were allowed more financial interest in the crops. When the calf or colt "given" to the boy in his infancy, which he has petted and cared for to maturity, becomes the father's when it is sold and the money is strapped up in the paternal purse, the sense of injustice helps make the lad determined to "go on his own" as soon as he is of age. Giving the boy or the girl an acre to manage as he likes, taking an interest in his success and helping out on occasion strengthens a liking for farm life through a realizing sense of its profits. It is good education.—Detroit Free Press.

Too Proud to Save.
 As a people it is not to be denied that we are prodigal sons and daughters. Other nations hold up their hands and exclaim over our costly leavings. A provincial French family could easily subsist on what the average American family throws away. We raise our voices in justified protest against monopolistic robber barons of the food markets. But we do not check the waste from our own back door.—Philadelphia Ledger.

Shall We Buy?
 West Virginia is now talking about selling four of her counties either to Ohio or to Pennsylvania, and we suppose the Christian thing to do would be for us to take them, little as we really want them, just to keep them out of bad company.—Ohio State Journal.

Cuba.
 Aspiring revolutionists in Cuba received a severe setback when Secretary Lansing informed them that

If We Must Enter the War

(New York Independent and Harper's Weekly.)

Only Germany can keep us out of the Great War. If Germany actually carries out in deed the ruthless threat which has already cost her the diplomatic friendship of the United States, we shall have no choice but to fight.

If that dread event comes, why shall we be fighting and for what end? We shall have entered the war in order to maintain our inalienable right to live at peace and unmolested in the sisterhood of nations. There have been many provocations in two years and a half. Germany's latest act of desperation is the last straw. The German note is a declaration that no nation's rights will be respected when they conflict with what the German government considers its necessities. When the German proposal to hold a peace conference was first made the neutral world hastened to give Germany the benefit of the doubt; it assumed the good faith and fair purpose of the act. The Allied nations replied frankly, leaving the door open for further negotiations. But Germany did nothing more. In the meantime the United States asked the belligerents to declare the purposes for which they fought. The Allies gave a detailed and candid statement of their claims. Germany, on the contrary, refused to offer specifications, and merely proposed a peace conference on neutral ground, though the British premier had already made it certain that England would never "put her head in such a noose." If Germany had been sincere in wanting a world peace, then was the time to match the Allied terms with terms of her own. Instead the Kaiser declared, "The mask is off," and called on God to avenge his enemies. A swift reply to the statement of the Allies' terms of peace came in the German declaration of unrestricted and relentless war against all shipping in the waters about the Allied countries. The German declaration tears up the last vestige of international law guaranteeing the freedom of the seas, and dashes the fragments in the face of every neutral nation.

It is under these conditions that the United States will have entered the war. What end must this country have in view as the final decision is taken?

The United States must fight, if fight it must, for no thought of revenge, no isolated right, no circumscribed purpose. One great result should spring out of the Great War: it should be the part of the United States to make certain that the result is really achieved. The war even if they triumphed by violence the Government of the United States would not recognize them. It is by such delicate hints as this that legitimacy and law will eventually receive recognition even from the wildest of the pronunciamentos.—New York World.

The Fruits of War.

How the war is working over in England may be learned from the fact that the large private estates, parks, hunting moors and game preserves are to go. They are to be made food-producing lands for the people instead of contributing to the sport and luxury of the wealthy classes. This is one of the first fruits of the democracy that is to spread over the earth as the result of the war. All kinds of autocracy will have to go, and people are to be esteemed in the coming age by what they do not by what they own. People are not yet appreciating the great change that the war is to bring. Privilege, blood, political preference, legislative favoritism are all doomed. These all belong to the issues of the war. The old time when one man's foot was on the neck of another will have passed away when the last shot of the big war has been fired. The conflict is between systems of civilization, and the old one is to lose.—Ohio State Journal.

Pull Together.

If this country must fight, let it get ready to fight with every resource, with its full strength, with all its men, all its money, all its inventiveness. Let this country not think it can win by playing at war. Let it realize at once the awful task that is before it. Let it realize what war means and that if victory is to come it will require the united strength of this nation, its complete energy, the total of its resources. Let this nation make up its mind to bear its burden to do its full share. Let it rise to the occasion, let it be prepared to make its sacrifices, to stand its losses, to suffer as others have suffered and will suffer.—Anacanda Standard.

Reassuring.

No one, however, can view the food situation with much alarm after reading what Secretary Redfield has to say about the creative exploits of his Department of Commerce. A department that can fish ornaments for women's hats from the floor of Chesapeake Bay is not going to be greatly bothered by the question of where the next few meals are coming from. A department that can put out canned dogfish and make the people like it will never be fretted about so simple a task as feeding a nation at war.—Spokane Spokesman-Review.

Timidity of Some Ship Owners.

Some of our leading ship owners and ocean steamship companies are very much surprised at the present restrictions and perils to which navigation is exposed. Did they expect that the United States could break with Germany without something happening to their business? Some of these people have clamored for a year and a half for this rupture and now that they have it they seem disposed to sidestep it consequences, so far as their own ships are concerned. An heroic attitude would become them; they should order their ships to sea and let them take the same chances the ships of other nations must take in maintaining the streams of international commerce.—Springfield Republican.

must end, not merely in the cessation of conflict, but in a durable and guaranteed peace. The world, as it puts the greatest war of all time behind it, must face the future with the assurance that the like cannot happen again.

The Allies have signed a treaty among themselves by the terms of which each agrees not to make peace until all are ready. If the United States finds itself fighting shoulder to shoulder with them on the high seas and on the soil of Europe, it will be of vital importance for us to discover whether they and we are spending blood and treasure for the same end. We should immediately discuss with Great Britain, France and their associates the purpose which must be accomplished before the war can be permitted to end. If they shall agree with us that only a guarantee of perpetual and universal peace can satisfy the enemies of the German autocracy, we should add our signature to their compact not to sheathe the sword until the Central Powers are compelled to make peace upon these terms.

The bases of a durable peace would include these propositions:

1. That the nations establish among themselves a League to Enforce Peace, dedicated to the peaceful settlement of international disputes under the ultimate sanction of force.

2. That they agree to the limitation of armaments within bounds determined by the necessities of such a League.

3. That the disputed questions involved in the Great War be submitted to an appropriate tribunal for adjudication.

4. That the Central Powers be invited to join the League, and even if they refuse, be compelled to join in the limitation of armaments.

There is no doubt that the Allies are ready to become part of a League to Enforce Peace when the war is over. They have said so unequivocally in their reply to President Wilson's interrogation. On the other three propositions they have not yet been heard. Their disinclination to agree to them need not be assumed. In any case the United States should exert to the fullest extent of its power, if it enters the war to fight side by side with them, its influence to secure their adherence to such a program. That way lies the hope of permanent peace.

As a great English philosopher once said, "The first duty of mankind is peace, the second duty is to fight to get it." The United States must not enter this war except in execution of this lofty duty. We must fight only to get peace, universal, durable, guaranteed.

GETTING THE LEAVINGS

Gossip From State House

Columbus, Feb. 21.—On account of tomorrow being a legal holiday (Washington's birthday) the General Assembly was expected to adjourn for the week today.

This will leave only two weeks in which to complete the work of the session, according to the administration program which calls for a recess on March 3 and final adjournment on March 20. The only important bills passed thus far are the Reynolds bill granting presidential suffrage to women, the initiated bill excluding private liability insurance companies from competition with the state workmen's compensation fund, the Blausner bill placing quail in the song bird list and bills providing for the rotation of names on the primary ballot and separating state and national tickets on the ballot in presidential election years.

Many bills affecting the schools are to be sidetracked along with scores of other bills on various subjects. It is said, State officers of the Junior Order, United American Mechanics, appeared before the Senate committee on common schools this week to urge passage of the Palmer bill, providing for free text books in the schools. This bill differs from many former measures on the same subject in that it leaves it up to the voters of any school district whether they shall provide free text books for the pupils.

The public health committee of the House will hold a public hearing tonight, (Wednesday) on the Terrell bill to permit Christian Science practitioners to practice their faith and accept fees for service without being subject to regulation of the state medical board. Opponents of the measure will present their arguments against the bill at a meeting next Tuesday night.

Walter Brown of Toledo, former leader of the Progressive party in Ohio, representing the Toledo Hygiene Society of which he is president, Brown and other representatives of the humane societies objected to the several bills introduced proposing a general license for all dogs in the state on the grounds that it will deprive them of revenues which they now receive from the dog fund. The dog bills were introduced in the interest of the sheep industry. Representatives of the state Grange said a law licensing all dogs would result in killing of many dogs which are not listed for taxation now.

A supreme court decision may be necessary to determine whether a Virginia partridge is a quail or not, in the passage of the Blausner bill placing quail in the song bird class. The law was amended removing the Virginia partridge from the protected list and it is now claimed that the Virginia partridge is nothing more nor less than the familiar Rob White.

Stewart L. Tatum of Springfield, chairman of the taxation committee of the Ohio Municipal League, is preparing another bill for relief of debt-burdened Ohio cities, both previous measures introduced by Senator Terrell of Cleveland having been abandoned because it was considered impossible for them to pass the House. The new bill will be less drastic, it is said, and will not interfere with the limitations of the Smith one per cent tax law.

 That the Pyrophone is a musical instrument invented by M. Kastner of Paris? The musical tones are produced by circles of small gas jets burning in glass tubes varying in length and diameter and arranged like the pipes of an organ. The jets of flame are spread apart so as to produce the tones, or brought together so as to cause the sound to cease, by a mechanical contrivance worked by keys like those of an ordinary organ.

Bill Needs Help.

"Willie Gettit" has just sent in a bright "lim" which has been entered in this week's contest and with it came the following touching appeal. "We just can't hold it till Saturday but in order that no other contributor may be discouraged we say right now in bold type that our judgment will not be influenced by Willie's pathetic request. We are sorry Bill's hungry and if he'll come around any day about 12 we'll buy him a bite of lunch and a good cigar. Listen! William says:

You'll remember, Mr. Editor, that Willie won one once,
 Which proves beyond a doubt, that Willie wasn't such a dunce.
 But "tempus fugitis" flies, and now it has been many months.
 Since hon-est Willie has got by with them there stunts.

You must admit us poets has lots of temperment,
 And ain't responsible for our acts when our money has all went.
 So come across, old money-bags, and help me as a gent.
 Or I'll have to seek the power house and turn on the cur-ent.

It's serious, Mister Editor, you can't believe my fix
 Until I tell you, on the square, for weeks I've cat a mix.
 For dinner, breakfast, supper, lunch, I'm down to just toothpicks,
 Unless relief comes pretty soon, oh, welcome River Styx.

Dropping the Aspirate.

Dropping the aspirate in the combination "wh" has the support of three authorities on English pronunciation—the late Dr. Sweet, Professor Rippmann and D. Jones. This "h" by the way, does not follow an initial "w," except in the spelling. What those who do pronounce it really say is "bwich," "lwhen," etc. In omitting the aspirate we are merely carrying on a process long established in English. Take, for instance, the words "lady," "loaf," "lean," "laugh," "neck" and "ridge." All were originally pronounced with an initial "h," which has now entirely disappeared. Even more violent consonantal changes have taken place. In "knife," "know," "gnaw" and "write" the initial "k," "g" or "w" was at one time pronounced. "Knife," for example, developed something in this way, "Knife," "knife," "nife," the first consonant being sounded. Not so very long ago "knee" was pronounced "knee" in Cumberland.—London Chronicle.

The Great Expunger.

In 1834, after an exciting debate of several weeks, congress passed a resolution censuring President Andrew Jackson for removing the public deposits from the old National bank. The resolution as passed by congress declared "that the president in the late executive proceedings in relation to the public revenue has assumed upon himself authority and power not conferred by the constitution and laws, but in derogation of both." The action of congress made Jackson and his friends very angry, and Senator Thomas Benton of Missouri gave notice that he would bring forward every year a resolution to expunge the resolution of censure. After a struggle of three years Benton's resolution was finally passed, and black lines were drawn around the resolution of censure, with the inscription, "Expunged by the order of the senate this 16th day of January, 1837." Senator Benton was nicknamed "the great expunger." His service to Jackson on this matter was considered the more remarkable because many years before he and Jackson had a pistol fight in a hotel at Nashville, in which Jackson was wounded and Benton was pitched headlong downstairs.

Never. "Never" is a word which is wrongly defined in the dictionary.

In that book we gather the understanding that "never" means not at all, forevermore.

But—Each day in our broad land young women vow that they will never forgive young men.

Men lift their right hands to high heaven and swear that they will never take another drink.

Husbands promise never to forget to write every day.

Wives promise never to make another extravagant and foolish purchase. Candidates aver that they will never run for office again.

Women say they will never speak to some one any more.

In all these cases "never" means any length of time from one hour to four days.—Life.

Louis' Compliment to Conde.

One need not overlook the enormous shortcomings of Louis XIV. as a man and as a king to admit that in some important respects he "tried to do his duty." He was a hard working sovereign both in the sphere of administration and in that social sphere which was to his mind no less important. So courteous that he never passed the poorest woman about the palace without lifting his hat, he carried polite consideration to the level of a fine art. In the way of courteous speech there are few things nobler than his remark to the great Conde as the old hero was slowly ascending the great marble staircase at Versailles. Conde apologized for being so long in mounting the steps, at the top of which the king stood waiting. "Ah, cousin," Louis replied, "no moves slowly when one is laden with laurels."

How Easter Is Reckoned.

The Christian festival of Easter corresponds to the Pascha or Passover of the Jewish faith. Easter day (from which the rest of religious movable feasts are recorded) is invariably the first Sunday succeeding the fourteenth day of the calendar moon which (fourteenth day) falls on or next after March 21. If the fourteenth day should be Sunday, Easter day would be the Sunday following.

PRACTICAL HEALTH HINT.

Typhoid Fever.
A noted English sanitarian has said that every time one dies from typhoid fever some one should be hanged. Aside from this view and in the light of modern medical science, typhoid deaths are now admittedly the result of sanitary blunders or criminal carelessness. The existence of typhoid fever bears the stigma of disgrace for two reasons—first, because we know more about its prevention and its filth source than most any other disease and, second, because its presence betrays filth, either as to our food and drink or as to our personal habits. Ignorance is no longer a cloak under which to hide the disgrace of typhoid fever. Keep your home and surroundings absolutely clean, keep yourself and your clothing absolutely clean, keep your food absolutely clean, and you will have no typhoid fever.

Julia Culp's Art.
(By Mrs. Joseph Sprague.)
New York, Feb. 17.—Madame Julia Culp in her recital Thursday afternoon at Aeolian Hall once again fully demonstrated her ability as a leader singer. Her concert February 15 was beyond praise.

Madame Culp promises in large degree all the attributes of a great concert singer. She has a rich and powerful voice and the imagination and temperament required to express the wide range of lieder art. Her voice can be sympathetic and tender, of fiery intensity and again full of a hopeless note of sorrow. As an interpreter of songs Madame Culp is one of the greatest artists.

Her programme consisted of a group of Schubert and Brahms songs and a group of American songs in which Burleigh's "Deep River" written for and dedicated to Mary Jordan, had a place.

There is a majesty about this negro melody, the greatest of American folk songs, which can not be expressed. The simple words of the primitive slave song awaken a feeling of sadness that this phase of American life is indeed a thing of the past. The lines are here given:

Deep river,
My home is over Jordan,
Deep river, Lord,
I want to cross over into camp.

Oh don't you want to go To the gospel feast,
That promised land,
Where all is peace?
Deep river, etc.

Newark musicians who have heard Madame Culp, may heartily endorse Mrs. Sprague's praise of her art, but they can go no further. Any moral sense of an obligation evidently has no part in her moral make up. Madame Culp deliberately "burned down" the Woman's Music Club after she was under contract to sing at one of the season's concerts. There was no excuse for the action, but after all the patrons of the concert were the gamblers, as Madame Matzenauer a much greater singer, took her place.

Miss Florence Macbeth was soloist with the Philharmonic on Feb. 6, singing the Ball Song from "Lakme." Her voice is remarkable in range, volume and purity, and has extraordinary flexibility. Miss Macbeth is a very young girl and a remarkably gifted one, is one of the promising sopranos of the Chicago Opera company, and has made a country wide name for herself. She has a beautiful voice and knows how to use it. There are few singers who do as clever and artistic a job of singing as this delightful young American.

Overworked "Old Favorite."

Mrs. Joseph Joseph Sprague who is in New York studying piano with the noted Richard Bruckner, and specializing in musical criticism, whose letters upon matters musical in the metropolis appear from time to time in the Advocate, evidently does not believe in too many "old favorites" finding a place upon concert programs, even as choruses judging from her strictures upon

"Shall We Make Up?"

Times have changed since the art of cosmetics was classified with vulgarity or wickedness. The "make up" must be governed by an innate sense of good taste.

It is an erroneous and general belief that the term cosmetic applies only to preparation, liquid, powdered and greasy, to soften, whiten and beautify the skin. Cosmetics originally meant the art of preserving the body and embellishing the body, taking care of the constitution and the skin.

Therefore, those of us who desire to become or remain beautiful, ought to have a good knowledge of hygiene and the value of skin and scalp goods, preserving, healing, and beautifying the latter. As there is no woman who does not want to be beautiful, no matter what her other ambitions might be, it is very necessary indeed for every one of us to be able to discern between good and bad cosmetics preparations and to possess a general and correct understanding of their use.

There always has existed and will exist a strong feeling against the use of any kind of cosmetic, without the least doubt a perfectly justified antipathy. It is for this very reason I have been playing the impartial side of the question, and have come to the conclusion that, taking it all in all, it is undeniably necessary to use cosmetics.

While we are in the bloom of youth it is evident that we do not need to help nature along. Everything grows and rectifies itself, that is the law of nature. Your gown may have been caviared by the most ingenious dressmakers, your hair may have been prettily and becomingly arranged, yet you would not consider your complexion, the shape of your eyebrows, the color of your lips.

But to return to our question: Should we use cosmetics? There can hardly be any doubt about the answer, even in the primitive maid's mind—a young girl or a full-grown woman has absolutely no chance in business or society if her skin is covered with blemishes or superfluous hair. She has not half the chance if she has no particular blemishes, but simply an uncared for complexion, dull hair, or badly brushed teeth. Should we use cosmetics? I should say we should.

Our Boys and Girls

Every little while something happens which is in the making of history, such as coronations, inaugurations, great discoveries, the death of some famous man or woman, etc.

An excellent way to keep the children interested in current events is to provide them with a generous sized scrap book in which may be pasted newspaper and magazine clippings of happenings which are of sufficient importance.

To keep such a book will teach the children to think over what they read and to value it correctly.

Having for proper reasons denied her child a pleasure, it is often advisable for the mother to arrange some enjoyable affair for the child, to soften its loss of loss. The unpleasant incident will prove to the child the mother's desire for its happiness, and this will go far in restoring the bond of sympathy.

LITTLE DOG FIGURES IN RECOVERY OF $60,000 WORTH OF JEWELS BARONESS LOSES IN CHICAGO: THROUGH HIM FINDER IS TRACED

The Baroness Doris de Wardener-Hollub, member of an ancient Austrian house, recently lost $60,000 in jewels while walking along a Chicago street. She was closely followed by Lillian Murray, an actress, and her friend Marie Glavin. The women were accompanied by a little trick dog which attracted the attention of a chauffeur, who saw the actress and her friend pick up the jewels. With the little dog as a clue, detectives finally succeeded in tracking the women, who admitted taking the jewels and selling most of them to a pawnbroker at a fraction of their real value.

HIGH SCHOOLS ARE PREPARING YOUTH FOR REAL WORK

"The modern high school is preparing its pupils to enter the professions better than ever before and it is preparing those pupils who do not enter the professions to do some real work," Hon. William E. Miller of this city told the Ohio Association of School Board Members yesterday in an address on "The Old in Contrast with the New in Education." He told the delegates that Newark had but two school buildings which were in use 30 years ago and that within five years, thirty new, fire proof, vacuum-cleaned rooms have been opened here.

He referred to the development of the courses of study and increased need for special equipment for schools as well as specially trained instructors for the work of educating the young people. He emphasized the need of ample play ground facilities and the value of physical training for pupils.

"I am not one who is sorry because the schools of today are costing more than the schools of yesterday," he said. "The schools of today are better. The textbooks, course of study and the teachers are 100 per cent better." He predicted that this improvement in educational methods would continue.

He declared an efficient method of medical inspection must soon be established with every school system and provisions made for special classes for the mentally deficient and for those pupils of extraordinary talent. He urged a perfected system of instructions in garden, night schools and classes for foreign born adults.

CANNOT WORK OR PLAY

When you are run down in health so that it impairs the efficiency of your work as well as your power to enjoy the pleasures of life it is time that you gave Dr. Williams' Pink Pills a trial. The condition that doctors describe as general debility when they describe it at all is outside of the experience of most physicians until the blood has become so impoverished that it can be called anemia. Unless this condition of bloodlessness has been reached you simply complain of failing energy, loss of appetite, constipation, lack of ambition and animation. If you are well-to-do your physician will probably advise a change of climate. If not, he will tell you there is nothing much the matter with you. He means that there is no organic trouble.

But the blood is thin and the whole system lacks tone. The blood goes everywhere, practically, and improving the quality of the blood by using Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, tones up the whole body, improves the appetite, quickens the step and puts a new punch in life generally.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People are sold by your own druggist or will be sent direct by the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y., at fifty cents a box.

YOUNGEST MINISTER CONDUCTS HIS OWN REVIVAL SERVICES

Rev. L. C. Emerick, Newark's youngest minister, will conduct his own revival service at the North Side Church of Christ, beginning March 4 and continuing until March 18. No outside talent will be secured for the special music meetings, Newark musicians being depended upon to provide this feature of the service.

Rev. Mr. Emerick is to do his own preaching, not necessarily because he believes he can do it better than anyone else but because he believes a revival furnishes the opportunity for the pastor to come into close relationship with this congregation and those whom the church is striving to reach.

The series of sermons outlined for these meetings will deal with biblical questions of vital interest to church people.

YOUTHFUL LINES DOMINANT FEATURE OF SPRING STYLES

Mr. A. Schiff, buyer or ready-to-wear apparel for Schiff's, who is in New York at present making his spring selection, writes home concerning the new "barrel" coat, the smart "trench coat," the novel "blouse skirt," the chic "dress coat," the "youthfulizing" sports and tailored suits and other novelties which he has purchased for the spring opening.

The secret of the youthful effect which the new Spring suits are to bestow upon their wearers this season is contained in the fact that the raised waist effect prevails to a marked extent. The belt, whether of the same material as the suit or leather, laces under box or side plaits at the raised waistline in many instances. Sometimes the plaits appear in single or double effect at each side of the back only, the fronts being softly belted. The wide collars point well over the shoulders and the many novel pockets and sleeve ideas prove interesting. The skirts are narrow in effect, even when plaited and here again we have the youthful note. Regardless of her age, a woman has the smart, chic lines of youth in these new suits. The new "barrel" silhouette appears in many of the new coats, although the "barrel" lines are the smart exception rather than the rule.

Why Have Gray Hair?

Sunshine and Air and Q-Ban will Quickly Restore its Natural Color. You can have Soft, Lustrous, Handsome Hair in Abundance Without Sticky or Dangerous Dyes or Chemicals—"Back to Nature."

OF COURSE, the use of dyes to darken gray hair, is unpleasant and not in good taste—even dangerous, in fact. But since the natural color can now be restored to gray and faded hair in a perfectly simple, healthful, natural way, why should anyone have gray hair? Why should you?

Sunshine and air, the good gifts of Nature, combined with the use of Q-Ban Hair Color Restorer, the good gift of Science, will bring back the natural color of your hair, evenly and pleasantly—and just as surely as it is true that sunshine and air are free.

Thousands of the foremost people in this country have restored their hair's natural color and renewed their youthful look in just this way. It is nothing to be ashamed of, like the use of dyes.

Nor does it arouse suspicion, as dyes do by the unnatural appearance they give the hair.

All you need to do to gain rich and coveted beauty of hair, without a trace of gray, is to wet your hair with Q-Ban Hair Color Restorer and when it is dry enough expose it to the free and pure sunshine and air, repeating this daily while your hair gradually and evenly returns to its original, uniform shade.

Q-Ban does not pretend to work miracles overnight, remember. Such claims belong to dangerous dyes, sticky paints and the like. Q-Ban's work is safe, permanent and natural and keeps the change from making you conspicuous. Your hair will become more glossy, lustrous, soft, abundant and captivating.

Q-Ban is all ready to use. It is not a dye. It is guaranteed to be harmless. A large bottle costs only 50c at your druggist's. It is the only guaranteed preparation for the purpose. Your money back if not satisfied.

The secret of Q-Ban's wonderful results is the process of oxidation brought about by the exposure of your hair to the air and sunshine after it has been applied. This very process makes it safe and sane and clean and is one reason for Q-Ban's tremendous popularity. Beware of imitations. Q-Ban is made from a scientific formula of glycerine, swefel, alcohol, ethyle and delicate perfume—the discovery of great chemists. It is endorsed by Prof. Von Huber.

Put your trust in guaranteed Q-Ban and sunshine and air to restore gray hair. "Back to Nature." Get Q-Ban at any good druggist's—or write Hessig-Ellis Drug Co., Memphis, Tenn., giving your druggist's name and address. Try Q-Ban Hair Tonic, Q-Ban Liquid Shampoo and Q-Ban Toilet Soap. Howe's Pictures.

Lyman H. Howe's return engagement for the season drew a packed house to the Auditorium last evening, and the program was one of the best of the many which he has presented to Newark audiences. One of the films told the remarkable story of Sir Douglas Mawson's expedition to the Antarctic regions. It was more than interesting and thoroughly enjoyed by everyone in the large audience. The penguins and sea elephants of the polar regions were shown together with a varied program which was highly interesting, instructive, and amusing. It was the first week day engagement in recent years and this fact six months in Australia and has already reached its second year in London. As soon as the various translations are made it will be produced in Paris, Rome, Madrid, Petrograd, Tokio, South America and South Africa. The attraction comes here under the A. S. Stern and Company banner and with it will come a cast of clever players who have adequately caught the spirit of the authors. Seats now on sale.

Her Unborn Child.

The management of the Auditorium announces the coming of a new four-act play, "Her Unborn Child," for an engagement of one day, Saturday, Feb. 24th, commencing with the matinee. It is a vital drama of present-day life, having for its and handsome girls. Seats ready Friday morning.

ALHAMBRA.

Tonight and Tomorrow.
In "The Man Who Forgot" Robert Warwick plays a part that is particularly fitted to his exceptional abilities. He enacts the role of a man who forgets everything, his past, his name, his place of residence—everything. Naturally a man in his condition has numerous adventures which have a bearing on his real place in life. There are plenty of thrills in this new World Picture Brady-Made and you will be sure to like it. This splendid offering will be shown at the Alhambra theatre tonight and tomorrow.

Alhambra, Friday and Saturday.

George Bonan, the celebrated portrayer of Italian characters, who will be seen at the Alhambra on Friday and Saturday, in the Oliver was appreciated by many in the audience.

"Katinka."

"Katinka" Arthur Hammerstein's big Viennese comic opera will be the attraction at the Auditorium today, with a company of sixty artists, and with a company that has played all the larger cities to turn away business. Arthur Hammerstein has given the production a most elaborate scenic and electrical dressing and he has not allowed the beauties of the Viennese Music halls and other points of beauty, but has made a feature of Russian female wedding guests, Turkish hours, and fair frequenters of these halls add beauty and gaiety at intervals to the story.

Rudolf Friml's score is remarkable in that there is scarcely a number that would not serve for a special feature in a musical show of less pretensions. The hit that has swept the audiences most completely off their feet is "Rackety Co!" with which local musical lovers are already familiar, for it has been hummed and whistled and played by orchestras from the Atlantic to the Pacific. The love song, "Katinka," is of a haunting sweetness, and the gay and novel "I Want to Marry a Male Quartette" has been picked out as one of the decided hits of recent years. The seat sale is quite large, but there still remains many choice seats.

"Twin Beds."

The announcement of the return visit of Salisbury Field and Margaret Mayo's "Twin Beds" to the Auditorium, Friday afternoon and evening should be the means of crowding the playhouse to its limit when this delightful comedy comes to town. "Twin Beds" is a rollicking tale of life among the flat dwellers and is an ingratiating exposition of the amazing and amusing adventures of three married couples who are neighbors in one of the fashionable apartment buildings which abound in certain sections of New York City. The appearance there of an Italian tenor, a bumbling misanthrope, and a man who is in his own mind of his neighbor's apartment, provides the situation from which a variety of ludicrous complications result. Previously this tenor and his wife and another newly married pair had been neighbors in another apartment house. The tenor persists in forcing attentions upon the girl-neighbor, whose husband insists upon moving. So, also, does the tenor's wife, and, of course, the two couples, unknown to each other, move into the same building. "Twin Beds" comes with a record of one whole year in New York, theme one of the serious questions which presents itself to thinking men and women in every walk of life—birth control. The author, Howard McKent Barnes, has treated his subject with understanding and dignity, and his play was completed only after extensive research work in the laboratories of prominent doctors throughout the country. He is said to teach a lesson as vital in its import as Cosmo Hamilton's "The Blindness of Virtue" achieved, and the play will take its place with that splendid work, in the hall of educational dramatic works.

Out of respect to its theme—motherhood—the matinee performance will be reserved exclusively for the ladies. The remaining performances are for men and women, but Morocco Paramount Picture, "His Sweetheart," prepared a Christmas tree for the children in the neighborhood of the Morocco studio in Los Angeles. It is said that in keeping with his Italian characterizations, he decorated the tree with garlic instead of the customary strings of popcorn. Supporting Mr. Beban in the cast of this original drama are Helen Jerome Eddy, Harry Devere, Sarah Kernan, Kathleen Quirkham, Robert E. Holson and others.

"Dolores of Paris."

Taylor's "Dolores of Paris," an entirely new play playing the American Wheel event, will be the attraction next Monday at the Auditorium theatre commencing with matinee Monday. It is one of Chas. E. Taylor's productions, who has always given the patrons of the theatre a run for their money. The company is headed by Jessie Taylor, assisted by an entirely new bunch of funmakers and vaudevillians, as follows: Harry and Naida, Peggy Dennis, Harry Segon, Geo. G. Irish, Atkins, Jack Arnold, Lew Reynolds and a chorus of well-shaped (Baroness Desvitz), who won the government prize as the most beautiful woman in Denmark and the unusual story gives ample scope for her splendid acting and amazing beauty. "Love never dies," is the theme, and the picture has a big appeal. A man and girl meet in modern Florida and over them hangs a strange mystery—a weird propelling force that seems to guide them to each other. They don't know what it means until they find a volume of "Royal Romance of Egypt," and discover themselves the counterparts of Prince Tea and the Image Maker of Ancient Thebes. Thousands of years before, the father of Prince Tea, wrathful at his son's love for the beautiful Circassian girl, had her thrown to the croc-diles. Now comes obstacles to the modern love affair which seem insurmountable. In a novel atmosphere—the studio of an American motion picture company in Egypt—the brilliant story is brought to an unusual and stirring climax. How the modern lover wins against all odds makes an absorbing and attractive story.

MEMORIAL HALL, COLUMBUS.

The President's Daughter.
Miss Margaret Woodrow Wilson, the President's daughter, and Frances McMillan, violinist, will be the attraction at Memorial Hall, Columbus, Thursday evening. Musical America says of Miss Wilson: "She has the power to realize the moods of what she sings. She has filled every corner of the big auditorium. After the concert, Conductor Stock, of the Chicago Orchestra, paid this tribute to Miss Wilson: 'I am proud to play for you, not only as the first lady of the land, but eminently as an artist!'"

3 BECAUSE Lois Bolton, the pretty Puck Wudgie, cutest of all newly-weds, is the clever little bride of the play.

4 BECAUSE it is clean, uncensored, unashamed—but in spirit as pure as Aesop's Fables or a Mother Goose Primer.

7 BECAUSE it is a comedy classic a hundred critics in a hundred cities—your own expert newspaper editors have unanimously decreed it the best farce of the year.

GREAT DEVELOPMENT OF WELFARE WORK IN INDUSTRIES IS NOTED

A "Congress of Human Engineering" was convened in Columbus in October last. This board was represented at the congress, on the second day, by Miss Catherine K. Moore. The reports which they brought back to this hour were of intense interest. The speakers were men and women from many walks of life.

"Human Engineering," as defined by these speakers means the common, everyday welfare of men and women in industry. The "human engineer" is the man or woman employed by the corporation to look out for the welfare of the individual worker and his family on the one hand, and his relations to the other workers and the management on the other.

"The human engineer," said one speaker, "is coming more and more to be the vital factor in industry, the real manager of affairs. Engineered business industries represent 37 per cent, farmers, 30 per cent; all others 30 per cent." He also connects capital and labor plants where welfare work is done escape friction and strike more often than do others.

Scientific management has been the outcome of the engineer element in industry. This welfare work had its origin in organized charity. The charity of the olden time was given largely from the motive of the donor who enjoyed the self-satisfaction that it was "more blessed to give than to receive." And the poor justified their poverty by the same scripture—often quoted in our office—which says: "the poor ye have always with you." Efficient philanthropy of the modern interpretation of that scripture demands that the donor give heed to the character effort upon the recipient of his charity even more than his own satisfaction in giving.

JACK SAMSON MAY MEET SEVERAL FAST AMATEURS

Jack Samson is a Montana wrestler and came to Newark determined to get a match with Bowser, according to his statement to an Advocate man today. He says he weighs 166 pounds but looks to be heavier by ten or fifteen pounds.

In backing his request for a match he said the size of the side bet, if Bowser wanted that arrangement, did not worry him and that he would meet him in private or in public, on the street or in a gymnasium. It's a fair proposition for both of us," he said.

A tolling stone gathers no moss, but that doesn't prevent lots of people from rolling in wealth.

It isn't every man who can buy his popularity without getting stuck.

WISCONSIN WRESTLER IS WILLING TO MEET BOWSER ON OWN TERMS

JACK SAMSON

Bowser and Samson probably will sign articles for a match within three weeks, following the match Thursday night at the Auditorium. Samson has said he is willing to let Bowser name his own terms. If the Wisconsin man shows well in the preliminaries—and he probably will—he will get a match with Bowser.

ZIEGMAN HAS GOOD RECORD; WRESTLED GEHRING 2 HOURS

Henry Ziegman, who is training here for his match with Paul Bowser Thursday night, has a good record as a mat artist and those who saw his workout Monday night agree that he will give Bowser a struggle, with a chance of being returned the winner.

Ziegman three years ago entered 47 matches. He got two draws and was defeated once. The other events were victories for the Lorain rail-roader. He states that most all his opponents were heavier men.

He defeated Johnny Billiter, Toledo lightweight after two hours. Billiter is regarded as one of the fastest and toughest men in the mat game. He also has met Otto Suter, Chris Jordan and Tom Volk of Cleveland, director of an athletic club there.

In a match with Henry Ghering, Ziegman stayed two hours. Ghering has a record of having struggled with Mike Yokel in Salt Lake City for six hours. On another occasion Ziegman wrestled 3 hours and 35 minutes with George Herkey, when the latter left the mat.

SAMSON LOOKS MUCH HEAVIER THAN 166 LBS.

Exchange of ideas Tuesday by Jack Samson and Paul Bowser through conversations with newspaper men, pointed to the fact that Samson will have an opportunity Thursday night of showing whether he is entitled to have a bout with Bowser. The two men have not met. Samson let it be known that he was here to meet Bowser and that money or men, whether amateur or professionals, would not stand in his way. Bowser said if Samson was willing to go on with Premier, Wallace and Merkle in the preliminaries Thursday night, a match probably could be arranged. Samson visited the gymnasium in East Newark Monday night where Henry Ziegman is training for the Thursday night match. He offered to go to the mat with Ziegman but the latter did not care to take a chance of being incapacitated for the night with Bowser. Samson consented to give a short exhibition of holds used in wrestling, to satisfy a large crowd of fans who were gathered to see Ziegman's work.

ZANESVILLE SENDS BIG CROWD WITH ATHLETES

A crowd of students of the Zanesville high school accompanied the basketball squad to this city for the game being played at the gymnasium this afternoon. Great enthusiasm has been aroused at the Zanesville school because of the victory over Mt. Vernon last Friday and the pupils want to see the Z. H. S. five defeat their old rivals, Newark 11, on their own floor.

"Milk is more thought of and talked of than all other foods combined."

Many of our ablest men among the food experts claim that milk is the most important of human foods.

Mr. John Lefebvre of the Gridley Dairy Co., of Milwaukee in a recent address, made the following statements: "The cow is the foster-mother of the world, therefore, milk is the universal food of mankind. The milkman stands much closer to the heart of the home than those of other trades, because his products are a prime necessity to life itself—the fundamentals upon which the structure is erected and maintained."

It is of the utmost importance to use pure clean milk.

TURKEY GUARANTEES

SAFETY OF U. S. SHIPS

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)

Washington, Feb. 21.—Turkey has assured Ambassador Elkus of its willingness to waive all restrictions of quarantine and otherwise upon the immediate departure of the thousands of Americans gathered in the neighborhood of Beirut. It also has guaranteed the American relief ships against any interference by Turkish submarines.

First Feeding Bottle.

Possibly a hollow globe constituted the first baby's feeding bottle. Torn from its parent tree, its edible interior would have found its way to the stomach of its adult plucker, after which the hollow shell would be filled with milk or other liquid refreshment for the satisfaction of the infant. In tropical countries, again, the cocoanut would constitute a natural feeding bottle, already filled with the necessary nourishment.

Without, however, indulging in speculation of this kind it may be noted that the archaic vase room at the British museum contains specimens of feeding bottles—tinted, archaeologists call them—dating back to between 600 and 700 years before Christ. These very early babies' bottles are usually globular in shape, are elaborately decorated and are covered with small knobs which, it is conjectured, were used to hang tiny bells upon. In short, the feeding bottle of those days was also a rattle and a picture book combined.

Government Crop Estimates.

Nearly 2,000,000 schedules are handled each year in the bureau of crop estimates of the United States department of agriculture in making up the government monthly crop reports, according to the annual report of the chief of the bureau of crop estimates. Nearly 160,000 names are on the voluntary crop reporting lists; forty-four paid agents are constantly making personal investigations, one agent covering a state, and a force of 105 clerks is employed in Washington to handle the large number of reports from the voluntary crop reporters and to keep records of crop information of this and foreign countries. The work of crop reporting has been so improved and systematized that estimates of production of important products can be made with a close degree of accuracy. The most complete record in existence is kept in the bureau of the estimates and statistics relating to the world's crops and live stock.

PERSHING NAMED TO COMMAND ARMY ON THE MEXICAN BORDER

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)

Washington, Feb. 21.—Major General John J. Pershing was formally appointed commander of the southern department today succeeding Major General Frederick Funston. The appointment will take effect immediately and does not require confirmation by the senate.

General McCain was instructed to make out the papers for President Wilson's signature and since they cannot reach San Antonio for some days, Major General Scott, chief of staff, informed General Pershing by wire that he had been named.

There is considerable speculation as to who will be nominated major general to take the vacancy in that grade in the line created by General Funston's death. A process of selection is exercised in the promotion of army general officers; the seniority rule applying only to the grade of colonel and below. Brigadier General Clarence R. Edwards, commanding in the canal zone is ranking Brigadier-general.

Wonderful Rainier Park.

This is the heart of the playground, worshipped by the red men in the days of old, and here in the evidence of scores of mineral springs bubbling from the ground one feels more keenly the puissance of God. To the left from the road, looking as if it were but a block away, rises Mount Tacoma, its sides showing the purplish lines of ice, great snow fields and jagged rocks. Yet it is five miles from the springs to Nisqually glacier, over a road as smooth as pavement and broken at almost every length of the car by vistas of surpassing beauty. Now it is a forest of silver, high tree trunks dotting the sides of a peak stripped of their branches and bark and whitened by the elements. Now it is a glimpse of Nisqually river, which takes its origin from the glacier of that name, as it tumbles along over its rocky bed, and now it is a forested peak rising toothlike out of the jaw of this mighty range of which Mount Tacoma, "the mountain that was God," in the picturesque language of the Indians, is a part—Ralph P. Mulvane in National Magazine.

Sunset and 12 o'clock.

The habit of counting 12 o'clock at sunset is very ancient. The Turks, Greeks and most other people in the Levant have almost always counted 12 o'clock from sunset, and to this day the common people cannot understand that their clocks have to be changed every day and not ours. The Turks have officially adopted meridian time, but only since the Young Turks came into power—that is, since 1908. The change was even then not made immediately. It encountered a great deal of opposition on religious grounds, because the Mohammedan hours of prayer are regulated by the sun. And the common people still stick to the old system. Only in Constantinople and Smyrna are there many Turks who keep the official meridian time, and the great majority of people throughout the Turkish dominions still count 12 o'clock, as their ancestors have from time immemorial, at sunset.—New York Times.

The Famous "Green Man of Brighton."

In October, 1896, an individual was to be observed at Brighton, England, who walked out every day dressed in green from head to foot—green shoes, green gloves, green handkerchief and other articles to match. This eccentric person lived alone, knew nobody, and in his house the curtains, the wall paper, the furniture, even the plates and dishes and the smallest toilet articles, offered an uninterrupted sequence of green. Having started on his career, there was obviously no reason to stop, and with full consistency he carried his scruples so far as to eat nothing but fruit and vegetables of the same green color. The consequences were extremely disastrous. One fine day the green man jumped from his window into the street, rushed forward and performed a second somersault from the top of the nearest cliff.

Some Trees.

In the angle between the Kings and Kern canyons lies a woodland empire beside which the Harz and Black forest of Germany would appear almost diminutive. Within the borders of the Sequoia National park and the General Grant National park near by there are no fewer than 1,166,000 sequoia trees, and of these 12,000 are more than ten feet in diameter. In the Sequoia National park stands the largest tree in the world—not the tallest, but the largest—the General Sherman tree, with a diameter of 36.5 feet and a height of 279.9 feet. Its massive trunk and branches contain about 1,000,000 feet of lumber, board measure. This is equal to the amount of lumber that is cut from forty acres of average Minnesota timberland.—Argonaut.

Self Convicted.

"Say, pa," queried small Bobby, "what is gossiping, anyway?" "Gossiping, my son," replied the old man, "if we get right down to the plain, unvarnished facts, is lying. But why do you ask?" "Because," answered the young investigator, "ma says you do a lot of gossiping every time your business keeps you late at the office."—Exchange.

Too Much Practice.

"Does your minister practice what he preaches?" the newcomer questioned. "He does," the citizen answered, with a sigh, "and I'd be perfectly willing to have him stop. He lives next door to me and begins at 7 o'clock Sunday morning to practice what he is going to preach."—New York Times.

WOULD MAKE IT CRIME TO IMPORT LIQUORS INTO DRY TERRITORY

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)

Washington, Feb. 21.—The Senate "bone dry" amendment to the postal bill prohibiting shipments of liquor into states which have prohibition laws, was accepted today by the house 321 to 72. It is account one of the most far-reaching prohibition measures in years because it will make absolutely dry states which now permit shipments in limited quantities.

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)

Washington, Feb. 21.—Under an agreement to take a final vote before night, the house today resumed consideration of the "bone dry" amendment to the postoffice appropriation bill, with the fate of the proposal in doubt. The amendment, already approved by the senate, would make it a crime to import liquor into dry states.

Advocates and opponents of the amendment had lined up their forces for what promised to be one of the most vigorous fights in the house during the session. Friends of the measure professed to believe that they had more than enough votes to insure its adoption, while opponents made no claims.

Chairman Moon, of the postoffice committee, was to open the light on the amendment, with a motion that the house disagree to it, while representatives Randall of California, prohibitionist, was to lead the opposition. It was expected that a compromise would be offered, modifying the amendment, so as to make it apply only to states which have themselves legislated to bar liquor shipments.

MERCHANTS DONATE PAPER FOR BELGIANS

The young peoples' central committee, for the Belgian Kiddies' Relief, reports continued progress in the organization work, as well as a growing interest on the part of the contributors to the fund.

There has developed a marked tendency, on the part of those who are not in a position to contribute papers, to give cash. Already a considerable number of cash contributions have been placed in the hands of Miss Ballou, secretary and treasurer of the fund, and a goodly number of others have signified their intention of so doing.

Another development, which promises to contribute largely to the success of the project, is the giving on the part of the merchants, of the paper from their waste paper balers. All merchants and business men, who have a bale or two of paper in their cellars, which they wish to contribute, may notify Chairman Kent at the Y. M. C. A., and it will be called for during the collection day.

AGRICULTURE FOR PUPILS AROUSES THE INTEREST CITIZENS

A brief meeting of the school board was held last evening with Vice President J. M. Mitchell presiding, other members present being Clerk Ben Montgomery and S. W. Haight. After the minutes of the previous meeting had been read and approved, the teachers' and employees' salaries were allowed for the month of February.

Superintendent Wilson Hawkins told of the interest that is being taken in the agricultural department of the school, not only by the students, but the community in general. He stated that the Rotary club had offered $85 in prizes to be competed for by students in the agricultural department of the schools, and that the Chamber of Commerce had given $75 for the purchase of seeds for students who desired to do work along that line this spring and summer. William Burke, of the Burke Golf Company, had also given $5 to be used in any way desired.

Several plots of ground in various parts of the city had been plowed and fertilized, and would be turned over to the students for their use. The superintendent said that all members of the agricultural club were ready and eager to begin work along that line, and he predicted some splendid results.

Supt. Hawkins stated that the High school orchestra would furnish the music for Americanization Day, and that school pupils would take part in the pageant which is on the program.

Esther Kissane was granted a leave of absence to complete normal course at Ohio University at Athens, O. The pupils of the seventh and eighth grades will have a chance to use the gym in the old M. E. church for several hours each Saturday, arrangements having been completed by the board to that effect last evening. The board gave Supt. Hawkins permission to have a bulletin printed, which would cover school statistics for the past five years.

A representative of a heating and ventilating company of Columbus, was present and presented plans for the heating and ventilating of the Mahon street building. The new system would be in accordance with regulations of the state, and would be a great improvement over the present system, but the board will not take any action at present.

HUMAN ORGANS MADE INTO PICTURES

X-RAY OUTDORE.

(By L. W. Bower, M. D.)

A recent issue of the British Medical Journal explains a remarkable discovery of Dr. James Scherer, and describes a new process of photography by which an abscess of the liver or the kidneys can be photographed from living patients. This will be invaluable because so many people suffer from kidney disease, and if it can be recognized in time they, no doubt, can be saved and life prolonged. Such photographs as can be obtained by this new process will show whether there is a blockage in the intestines or not, whether the kidneys are normal and able to do the great burden put upon them.

Unfortunately, what the liver can't take care of passes on to the kidneys, and the intimate relation between the two often causes a disease of the kidneys. One of the poisons retained within the system is uric acid in excess.

Death would occur if the kidneys did not work day and night in separating poisons and uric acid from the blood.

The danger signals are headache, depression, aches and pains, heaviness, drowsiness, irritability, headaches, chilliness, rheumatic twinges, swollen joints or joint.

This can be avoided by stimulating the kidneys to increased action, and because of its tonic effect on this organ I would advise any one to purchase Anuric, (which is to be had nowadays at almost any drug store), and take it three times a day, together with a pint of hot water, an hour before meals. By cutting rid of the uric acid you can prevent and cure rheumatism, gout, and the pains and aches due to this uric acid stored within the system. I have found in practice that Anuric (double strength) is more potent than lithia and in most cases it will dissolve the uric acid as hot water does sugar.

UNION OF NEUTRALS A MOVE FOR PEACE, PRESIDENT SAYS.

President Wilson has caused the following instructions to be sent to all American diplomats in neutral countries:

"You will immediately notify the government to which you are accredited that the United States, because of the German government's recent announcement of its intention to renew unrestricted submarine warfare, has no choice but to follow the course laid down in its note of April 18, 1916 (the Sussex note).

"It has therefore recalled the American ambassador to Berlin and has delivered passports to the German ambassador to the United States.

"Say also that the president is reluctant to believe Germany actually will carry out her threat against neutral commerce, but if it is done the president will ask congress to authorize the use of the national power to protect American citizens engaged in their peaceful and lawful errands on the seas.

"The course taken is, in the president's view, entirely in conformity with the principles he enunciated in his address to the senate Jan. 12 (the address proposing a world league for peace).

"He believes it will make for the peace of the world if other neutral powers can find it possible to take similar action.

"Report fully and immediately on the reception of this announcement and upon the suggestion as to similar action."

WHAT TO DO IF A U BOAT ATTACKS

Atlantic Liners Post Instructions For Passengers—They Are Armed For Defense.

Exactly what is expected of passengers and members of the crew on a British liner in the event of attack by a submarine became known when the Cunarder Carmania arrived from Liverpool a few days ago. A typewritten copy of the new instructions was posted at the foot of the main companionway of that vessel when she docked. It tells the story:

SUBMARINE ALARM!
Signal on ship's whistle—two long and two short blasts. Ship is being chased or in danger of gunfire.

Passengers will go to boats with life belts on.

Seamen told off for gun's crew will go to stations.

Remainder will prepare the boats for lowering.

Firemen and trimmers will double up and raise all possible steam, all bulkhead doors being kept closed.

Remainder of men will go to their boat stations or put out fires when they occur.

Surgeon will see that all sick are removed.

Safety of all depends upon the strict observance of these rules. By order COMMANDER.

From those on board the Carmania it was learned that the officers have been informed by the admiralty they need expect no mercy from enemy submarines. If these are sighted, safety depends upon successful defense and fight. The six inch gun mounted on the stern of the Carmania is capable of sending solid shot for several miles and can also discharge the new type shrapnel shell invented by ordnance experts for defense against submarines. This is timed to explode when within a few hundred feet of the submarine and can raise a shower of shrapnel that can make a sieve of the sides of any subsea boat.

GUNS FOR BOY SOLDIERS.

Chicago's High School Girls Also In For Military Training.

The Chicago high schools are to have military training and guns and uniforms with it. The members of the board of education made this decision following a talk by Captain Edgar Z. Steever, who will have charge of the training in the Chicago, Kansas City and St. Louis schools. Previously many of the members had opposed the idea of equipping the boys with real guns, saying wooden sticks were adequate.

The uniforms will be furnished either by the war department or by the state. Girls also will receive some military training. The course for them has not been worked out, but it is planned to teach them how to march and how to handle large groups of women and children.

"In the picture of refugees," Captain Steever said, "you have noticed the utter lack of organization and system. I believe it is wise to teach the girls how to march, how to give the simple commands in marching and how to make orderly groups out of mobs.

"They ought to know, too, something of the laws of war, so as to prevent sniping and other infractions of conduct among noncombatants."—Kansas City Times

LENT SHOULD TURN MAN'S THOUGHTS TO MORE SERIOUS THINGS

Ecclesiastical regulation affords an opportunity, beginning today, Ash Wednesday, for church goers to turn their thoughts toward more serious things, and by depriving themselves of a few luxuries, and by a spirit of kindness and charity to broaden and better their lives.

The annual Lenten letter has been sent out by the Rt. Rev. Bishop Hartley, of the Catholic diocese of Columbus, in which the regulations to be observed are set forth. It includes an abstinence from meat on certain days, and a reduction of the usual amount eaten. However exceptions are noted in both cases, in case of working people, and those who are in ill health.

All the church members are requested to deprive themselves in some way of some pleasure, at least, during the Lenten season.

This morning, at 8 o'clock, at the Blessed Sacrament church, at St. Francis de Sales church, as the services will be held on Wednesday and Friday evening of every week during Lent at 7:30 o'clock. A sermon will be delivered on Wednesday evenings and the stations of the cross will be recited on Friday evenings.

Granville

[Special to The Advocate]

Granville, Feb. 21.—The death of Henry Sanford, 67 years of age, occurred this morning at 5:30 at his home in Maple street, after a two weeks illness, caused by grippe. Mr. Sanford was born in Granville Township and has been a resident of the village for most of his life. He was a member of the Granville Chapter of the I. O. O. F. and was interested in all its activities. Besides a large circle of personal friends he leaves three sons to mourn his loss, Dwight and Karl of the home, and Pay Sanford of Thurston, O. No arrangements have as yet been made for the funeral service. Interment will be made in Maple Grove cemetery.

The Granville committee of the A. F. F. W. still meets and works with ardor on Tuesdays of each week. Yesterday the ladies varied their activities by working on hospital shirts and pillows, in addition to the comfort for children. The Paris letter acknowledged the receipt of another box from Granville. A feature of the business meeting was the report by Mrs. John Geach of the shipment committee. The last consignment was a large one, including, among countless other useful articles, 14 pairs of blankets.

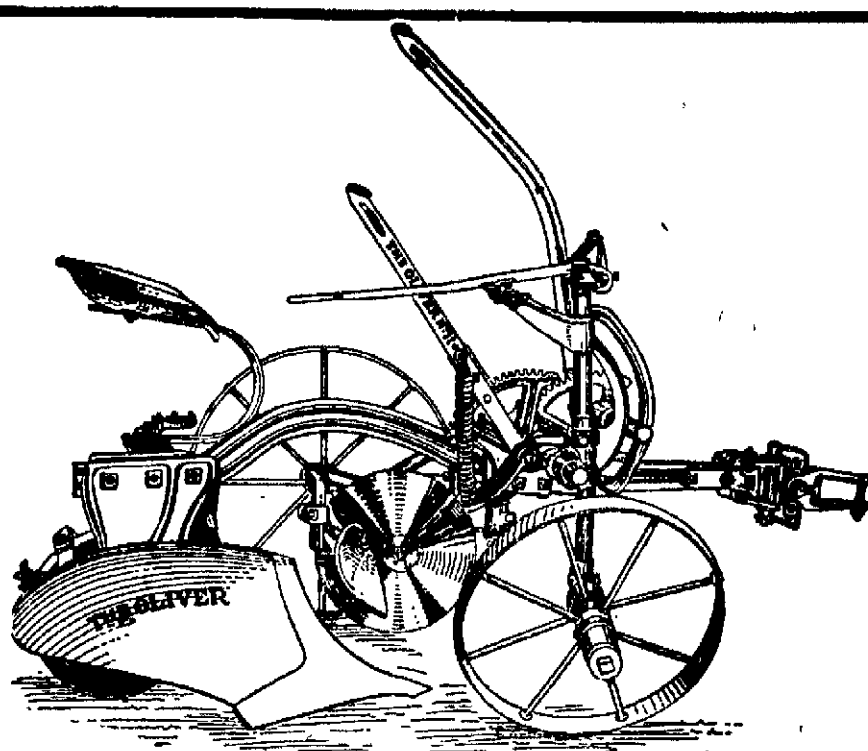

Miss Geneva Lowe of Newark was in Granville Tuesday and was a guest at luncheon of Miss Carrie Howland. Mrs. E. F. Hobart who has been quite ill at her home on the Newark road, is slowly improving. Miss Emma Allison, a member of the household, is also down with the grip.

Among the men locally known, who attended the notable Delco banquet in Memphis, Tenn., on February 15, were Henry R. Colby, distributor, Kenneth L. Ullman and Karl Ashton.

WITH A GREAT MANY FARMERS THE JAMES OLIVER No. 11 Sully HAS BECOME A STAPLE ARTICLE THAT IS REGARDED AS BEING A NECESSARY PART OF THEIR FARM EQUIPMENT.

These farmers appreciate its simplicity, extreme light draft, ability to turn square corners with the bottom cutting full depth and to do excellent work under adverse as well as favorable conditions. The Oliver combined rolling Coulter and jointer is a recent improvement that enables the No. 11 sully to bury all weeds and trash on the bottom of the furrow and to leave a clean field surface. A carload has just been received and they will be found on display

Mrs. Martin of Seattle, Washington has been the guest for several days at the home of Dr. and Mrs. Frank Carney on the Burg street hill.

The Travelers arrived at Georgetown, Brazil on Monday afternoon for a final view of this vast republic, and the program presented was notable in many ways. Mrs. E. P. Cook in an admirable treatment of the topic, "The Land of Today and Tomorrow," showed conclusively that the methods for instance which succeeded in the United States in the matter of salesmanship, are a total failure in Brazil. Mrs. William Howe read the paper prepared by "Miss Daisy Howe on 'The Gulanas—The European Colonies' At French Gulana is located the French penal colony. Mrs. Howe recalled the trial and imprisonment of Dreyfus, a French officer some years ago, and his final vindication and release. He, now is serving his country in the war against Germany.

Miss Emily Colwell of Columbus spent the week-end at the home of her father, Dr. Richard Colwell.

Miss Carrie Thrall of Indianapolis is the guest of Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Austin in East Elm street.
